LET THE PARENTS HAVE THEIR SAY!

Ian Anderson reporting

MR KENETH BAKER, the Government Minister responsible for Education, has launched what he calls "A Great Debate" on the future of education in this country.

He claims that he wants to give educational choice back to the parents. Its a bold claim and one that the National Front would applaud if there was any truth in it.

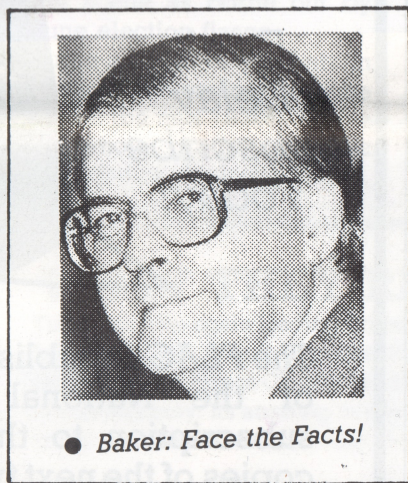

However, this choice is likely to end up being limited to the colour of paint to be used in the corridors of our schools. Because if he gave real choice to the parents he would be faced with some very uncomfortable facts.

★ Firstly the parents of most White children want then to attend schools which are for "Whites Only".

★ Secondly most parents want their children to learn what they need to know to equip them to earn a decent living in Britain, and to learn about this country's history, its culture, and its language. Of course, most parents want their children to learn other things, but only after they have learnt these basics.

That means there would be no place for 'Black Studies', 'Peace Studies', learning about homosexuality, learning about the history of Albania, Paraguay or Outer Mongolia.

It would also mean parents would want the right to sack incompetent teachers, or those that show their political motivation by bringing anti-racism posters into school along with their anti-racist maths, anti-racist biology, and anti-racist games of non-competitive football.

The National Front believes that while some basic elements of education should be laid down by the state, the actual type of education employed in a school should be decided at local level with parents having a large say. Like many other Tories Keneth Baker is strong on promises - the reality will prove to be as fraudulent as Maggie Thatcher's promise to control immigration!

SCHOOL PICKETED AS IT CLOSSES FOR SIKH HOLIDAY

● Out in the cold: Parents and children picket Ravenscroft School in protest over the shutdown for a Sikh religious festival.

ANGRY PARENTS picketed Ravenscroft School, Canning Town, in East London, when their children were refused entry because the school was observing "Guru Nanak's Birthday".

Newham Council refused to meet parents who were angry that their children were being forced to observe a Sikh holiday. Mrs Gina Hoskins, one parent, said "Some schools have a majority of Asians but here there are only about ten, yet our children are still being forced to take the day off".

More clashes took place at a school governors' meeting of Essex Infants School, Manor Park, when parents accused the headmistress, Miss Morah McLean of "swamping youngsters with Asian culture".

You would have thought after all this that Newham Council would, at least, have pleased the local Asian community by all this grovelling; but no, the Asians aren't happy at all!

You see Newham Council managed to get their dates wrong. They closed all the Borough's schools on November 16th to celebrate Guru Nanak's birthday - which is a shame - because his birthday falls on November 5th.

TURNING TO THE FRONT

A REPORT based on studies of teenagers over the last ten years reveals that the National Front is seen as the only political party that can help Britain.

Professor Harold McGurk of Surrey University says that jobless youngsters blame coloured immigrants for Britain's troubles and support calls for enforced deportation of coloured people.

"Many were unable to identify the policies of any party except the National Front's commitment to repatriate coloured immigrants" he says.

The report concluded that most youngsters were law abiding, had turned their backs on the Left's call for street revolution and just wanted a political solution to the country's ills.

ETHNIC PUPILS ON THE INCREASE

SCHOOL PUPILS in London speak a total of 172 languages, 11 more than two years ago according to the latest survey. Perhaps Mrs Thatcher would explain how this has come about as she claims to be 'controlling' coloured immigration. In Holland Park School, Notting Hill, pupils speak a total of 50 different languages, 5 more than two years ago.

Over the same period the number of pupils who are 'not fluent' in English has risen by over 25% to 44,448.

NO COMMENT!

A 600-PAGE report costing £150,000 in Brent, North London, says that there has been a massive loss of confidence in Brent's education system.

It also says that Black parents "claim their children are stereotyped as lazy, disruptive and aggressive and are denied academic subjects in favour of other activities like pottery, cooking and painting".

LEARNING HOW TO LEARN

ONE SMALL part of Britain's education system that is working well is the local village school in Ticknall, just south of Derby. With only 15 pupils, the headmaster, Mr Philip Toogood, has introduced a 'flexitime' system to allow him the opportunity to teach each pupil as an individual and not as just a name on a register.

He sums up his attitude as "not teaching pupils to be taught" but allowing them to 'learn how to learn'. Consequently he is available to offer a wide range of options: "For example we do not have a Spanish teacher, but there is no reason why the children should not learn it from a BBC course. The system has enormous potential".

Ticknall School will not be celebrating Diwali, Guru Nanak's birthday or the anniversary of the publishing of Mao Tse Tung's Little Red Book.

CHILD ABUSE GIVES COMFORT SAYS FOREIGN NHS DOCTOR

BEING SEXUALLY abused by their parents gives "comfort and gratification" to children, according to Dr. Duri Wignarajah. Sri Lankan-born Wignarajah is a National Health Service psychiatrist in North-East England. He was quoted as saying that being interfered with is "a source of comfort" to some of the little victims.

Clinical psychologist Mrs. Heather Bacon wept as she told the Cleveland child abuse inquiry that Wignarajah had also told her "For some the so-called abuse is not an abuse but a source of comfort, and the children enjoy the attention they are getting from the adult". According to Wignarajah, being sexually abused "probably enriched the lives of the children he has seen".

Dr. Wignarajah subsequently admitted holding these views, though he wished to make it clear that he did not hold "the blanket view" that all children necessarily benefitted from being sexually abused by their parents.

WHAT WOULD WE DO?

PRIME MINISTER of Papua New Guinea, Mr. Paias Wingti, said of the situation in Fiji while addressing the Commonwealth Conference in Vancouver,

"The Melanesians are the true Fijians. They had to do something. If Indians became 53% of the population of England, what would the English people do".

It's a good question - the answer is 'very little' if present day couldn't care less attitudes to coloured immigration are maintained.

"If you're Black you don't mug a Black man"

NINETY-NINE per cent of assailants on the Stonebridge Estate in Harlesden are Black and ninety-nine per cent of their victims are White. That's according to Supt. Bill Ganley of Harlesden Police.

His remarks were backed up by a 17 year-old youth leader from the estate. He said "If you're Black, you don't mug a Black man".

BRITAIN FIRST!

A BRITISH company has beaten the rest of the world in the race to develop power hydraulic systems using water instead of oil.

Scot-Tech, formed by the Fenner Group of Hull, has collaborated with the Department of Trade and Industry's National Engineering Laboratory at East Kilbride, Strathclyde to develop the technology which should eventually replace conventional oil hydraulics in a huge variety of applications ranging from the mining industry to sub-sea tools.

ILLEGAL IMMIGRANTS THE TIP OF THE ICEBERG

THE DISCOVERY of 15 Asians hidden in secret compartments within a van arriving in Britain from Germany is an example of the sophisticated methods used to by-pass Britain's immigration laws.

TIP

The findings of the customs men at Dover Docks are just the tip of the iceberg. Britain's airports and docks are being hood-winked day in-day-out as illegal immigrants are smuggled into Britain.

Immigration officials believe that the Dover operation involves Asians from Sri Lanka, India and Bangladesh each paying £2,000 to get into Britain via West Germany.

The Channel Tunnel will increase the rate of flow of these illegal immigrants as detection become harder, but customs officials are united that the main source of entry for illegal immigrants into Britain still remains Heathrow.

LONDON'S I.R.A. SPOKESMAN

HACKNEY COUNCIL has invited Alex Maskey, a senior Sinn Fein leader to visit its Town Hall. The invitation came from one Gerry Lawless who two years ago was chairman of the Labour Group on the Council.

For a Hackney Councillor, Mr Lawless has an interesting history. he was born in Dublin and even interned by the notoriously pro-IRA courts when he was suspected of belonging to the IRA. He has since admitted: "It's true that I was a member of the I.L.A."

He is also reported to have been a member of Saor Eire, an extremist terrorist organisation which claimed the the provisional IRA "was not tough enough".

● Bombay's Samir Shah.

Obviously, a coloured immigrant is unlikely, to put it mildly, to champion fair reporting of the National Front, Britain's premier anti-immigration party. Indeed, in his previous job, as Editor of London Weekend Television's London Programme, Shah was responsible for some vicious anti-NF smear programmes, consisting of a deliberate pack of lies.

With this Asian Immigrant in charge of all the Corporation's news reporting, British patriots will be even more certain that "BBC" really stands for "Blatantly Biased Coverage."

● Councillor Lawless.

Gerry Lawless is currently a freelance journalist writing mainly for Irish papers. He lives in a £100,000 house in a quiet residential street in Stoke Newington.

Neil Kinnock has "deplored" the invitation but no action is to be taken against this IRA supporter - he remains an active and prominent member of the Labour Party.

... and our MPs want us to have even more! ...

LIBERAL AND Tory MPs want 9,000 Vietnamese refugees, at present in Hong Kong, to be settled in Britain as quickly as possible.

Liberal Russell Johnson, said "With the settlement of 2,400 refugees a year and an inflow that was higher than that, we are no where near a solution to the problem ... the British Government has a special duty to act because of its responsibility to Hong Kong".

Tory Richard Alexander said "Bearing in mind that those who had been resettled here had been no trouble, would it not be possible to relax the family relations criteria and allow families to come and settle here?"

40,000 Indo-Chinese and Vietnamese refugees have come to Britain in the last ten years.

HEADMASTER WANTS TO BAN NF LEAFLETS FROM HIS SCHOOL

THE SUCCESS of a National Front schools campaign in South Birmingham has forced a headmaster to try to ban discussion of the NF within his school.

K.A. Hearne, headmaster of King's Norton Boys School told the Birmingham Evening Mail,

"We are very aware that the National Front has been active in the King's Norton area for a number of years. Pupils from this school have been given leaflets on their way to and from school and leaflets have been pushed through letterboxes in the area.

National Front literature has been banned in this school, nevertheless we acknowledge that in their home/local environment many pupils are influenced by the NF".

Mr Hearne will no doubt be interested to know that at a strategy conference held in Buckinghamshire on Saturday 28th November the National Front have decided to launch a major schools campaign in 1988. A letter sent to schools will advise a school's information pack containing

- * A Statement of Policy
- * A copy of The FLAG
- * A copy of Vanguard
- * Assorted NF leaflets
- * A copy of Nationalist Doctrine.
- * A copy of 100 Questions and Answers about the NF.
- * Details how to book NF speakers for 6th Form Debating Societies.

The information pack is available from Freedom Books, BCM NEWPAT, London WC1N 3XX. Price £2.00 (inc post).

Six Candidates is the Target for the May Council Elections

By Martin Wingfield

WHILE OTHER NATIONAL Front branches were winding down for the Christmas period Birmingham National Front had organised a full programme of events for December.

Working from their office in the centre of the city the Birmingham Committee have guided their branch through its most successful year since it was formed. A year that saw local marches, demonstrations, imaginative street protests and the best council election result for ten years in their target ward of Washwood Heath.

Nearly forty members turned up to the December Branch meeting to see a film show put on by Brian Hyde and Tom Whitehall of Wolverhampton NF of National Front marches of the late 1970s. Those present contributed to a collection of £65.00.

Throughout the month leafletting took place in Washwood Heath and the Sheldon area of the city. So well has leafletting gone over the past months that the branch has just repeated an order for 10,000 leaflets.

December 10th saw the reformation of the South Staffs NF with a meeting in Walsall. West Midlands Regional Organiser and Birmingham Organiser, John Hill was the main speaker who paid tribute to the efforts of Graham Wilkin and Charles Baugh in getting the branch reformed.

Steak and Turkey dinners were the order for the evening at the Birmingham Christmas Dinner. Directorate member Steve Brady gave an amusing after-dinner speech as those present enjoyed a bar extension until 11.30pm before going on to a top city night club run by local NF supporters. Amongst the numerous toasts made that evening was one following the announcement of the engagement of Washwood Heath activists Terry and Anna.

The Birmingham committee hope to be fielding six candidates in the council elections in May and have numerous schemes in hand to raise money for the next General Election where its hoped there will be at least two NF candidates standing.

Getting out and promoting the National Front is the secret of the success of Birmingham NF. Not only do they work in their own area but also in other growth regions of the NF in the West Midlands. And this as well as supporting all the major NF national activities. It is a branch that is a shining example to all other NF branches.

Media and Council Unite in Campaign Against Bristol National Front

THE GROWTH of the National Front in Bristol has alarmed the local political parties who have started a campaign to discredit the Party.

NF activist Colin George was smeared in a local paper after the council had threatened him with eviction after he displayed a National Front poster in his council home window. Black neighbours called in the Police after claiming they were intimidated by the Britain for the British poster. Despite the Police saying there was nothing offensive about the poster, Council officials demanded its removal.

After a smear story in the Bristol Journal claiming "We expose National Front race-hate unit", local NF Chairman Mike Crahart was given an opportunity by the paper to put the record straight.

Mike Crahart
Chairman of Bristol National Front.

He told the paper, "As the Chairman of the Bristol Branch of the National Front I repudiate the claims that Bristol NF are involved in Neo-Nazi paramilitary vigilante activities.

The National Front has no connection whatsoever with any Nazi group.

Unfortunately every party has its lunatic fringe and people may be drawn to the NF because of the Nazi image the media has given it. When these people realise that we are in fact a legitimate democratic party they generally lose interest and thankfully leave.

The media campaign and the council action against a NF member has backfired. The press coverage resulted in much local interest in the NF so much so that the branch has more than doubled its order for January's issue of The FLAG.

NF Wreath Laid at Westminster Abbey After Last-Minute Police Ban on March

OVER 600 National Front members and supporters gathered at Bressenden Place, Victoria, Central London for the annual Remembrance Day Parade to the Cenotaph on Sunday 8th November. This year's Act of Remembrance was particularly difficult to organise because of opposition from a communist umbrella group "Anti-Fascist Action" and from a small splinter group which left the NF over a year ago to form a 'Colonel Gaddafi Admiration Society'.

This small splinter group put in a similar application for a march to our own although their activity was to start 30 minutes after our traditional parade. This was clearly going to cause difficulties for the organisation of the parade, and in the negotiations leading up to the parade the police be no march at all. Ten minutes later they ordered the National Front to disperse.

NF members refused to disperse despite police provocation and eventually the police agreed to allow a rally which was addressed by Ian Anderson and Steve Brady. Chairman of the National Front, Martin Wingfield was arrested for arguing with the police about their actions, however he was subsequently released without being charged. Dawn Major, one of the Drum Corps was also arrested, but was also released without being charged.

At the end of the rally a small delegation of National Front officials including Andrew Brons and ex-serviceman Tom Mundy was allowed down Victoria Street to Westminster Abbey where a expressed their view that it would not be possible to have two separate marches.

On the day National Front members from all over the United Kingdom gathered at Victoria, traditionally well organised branches such as Birmingham, Newcastle, Brighton, Newham, Leeds etc, all turned up with excellent numbers of members and supporters while smaller units such as Harrow, Bristol, Worthing, Portsmouth, etc. all managed to bring members to this event.

The police officer in charge of the event spoke to Ian Anderson, the NF National Activities Organiser to ask whether the NF would be prepared to march with the tiny group of 'Colonel Gaddafi's Admiration Society' about 50 of whom had also turned up. Although we felt that this would not add to the good conduct and order of the parade we finally agreed to the two groups marching one behind the other.

However this splinter group refused to agree to this and indicated that they would be happier if neither parade took

by Jimmy Grundle

GEORGE SEAWRIGHT, ex-Northern Ireland Assembly member and ex-Belfast City Councillor who was gunned down by two cowardly Republican terrorists will be sadly missed by all his friends in the National Front.

George was one of the few politicians who stood by his principles without fear of being smeared by the media. He also made no secret of his support for the National Front.

COMMITMENT

As a Scotsman, George was deeply motivated by the struggle of his fellow British kinsfolk in Ulster and moved to the Province to assist them in every way. It would have been easier and safer for George to stay in Scotland and carry on the fight over there but such was his commitment to the cause of Ulster and his courage to be in the frontline that he became the target for the terrorist bullet.

We in the NF salute our fallen comrade, a fighter in the common struggle for Britain. His loyalty to Ulster and his love for the Protestant faith will never be forgotten, nor will his killers be forgiven.

We extend our heartfelt condolences to his kin and pledge that his sacrifice shall not be in vain.

BRITONS EAT KOSHER MEAT

THREE-QUARTERS of the meat produced from ritually slaughtered animals, whose throats are cut without them being first stunned, is eaten by the General Public.

The ritual method of killing is a barbaric practice reminiscent of the Dark Ages. However Jews and Moslems living in this country insist of having their meat by this cruel method of cutting the animals throat cut while it is upsidown and fully conscious.

However Dr Tony Andrews, senior lecturer in farm animal medicine at the Royal Veterinary College has disclosed that much of the meat is still unacceptable to the minorities and is therefore sold to the public. At least half the beef slaughtered by the Jewish shechita method is sold to Gentiles because all of the carcass apart from the forequarters is unacceptable to Jews.

So British people are being forced to eat ritually-slaughtered meat. Such a thought, along with the actual practice is disgusting and should be banned. If the Jews and Moslems don't like it - TOUGH! let them go back to their own countries and eat it to their heart's content.

THATCHER KILLS OFF BRITAIN'S SPACE PROGRAMME

● Thatcher says we couldn't afford to invest £200 million in Space Technology, yet she was prepared to GIVE AWAY £1,358 million in handouts to the Third World.

by Steve Brady

FOLLOWING the shock protest resignation of British space supremo Roy Gibson, as reported in September's Flag, Tory Minister for Trade and Industry Kenneth Clarke announced on October 11th that Britain is effectively pulling out of the space race. Clarke announced that the Government was rejecting proposals by its own British National Space Centre to increase space spending from £113 million to almost £300 million a year. It was because he got wind of this impending announcement, which he knew would kill off the British space programme, that BNSC Director Gibson quit in August.

The Government's decision to abandon space came the day before the opening of the 38th Conference of the prestigious International Astronautical Federation in Brighton. Top Government representatives from America, Russia, Japan, China and Europe were in attendance at this important space event. Only Britain of countries with a space programme didn't bother to send a Government representative, even though this is the first IAF Conference to be held in our country for 20 years. Of course, there was no point in Britain attending: we don't have a Space Programme any more. We're even dropping out of the European Space Agency, so we won't even have a share in somebody else's space effort.

The Government's announcement kills off the revolutionary world-beating British HOTOL spaceplane project, being developed jointly by British Aerospace and Rolls-Royce. Commenting on the fact that HOTOL could fly again and again, just like an aeroplane, without throwing away fuel tanks and boosters like the US Space Shuttle (or blowing up!), British Aerospace Chief Executive Sir Raymond Lygo said "HOTOL is a great opportunity for the UK. You cannot go on using these giant fireworks and then throwing them away." It's a great opportunity - another great opportunity - Britain is going to miss.

Even former Tory Space Minister Sir Geoffrey Pattie was disgusted: "All the other nations are taking the view that space is where the future is" he said. "Even India is doing more than we are. I just can't believe they can all be wrong and we are the only ones who are right".

And the man who designed the revolutionary engines which make HOTOL possible, Rolls-Royce consultant engineer Alan Bond, is angry enough to do more than talk. Mr Bond is so determined to see HOTOL fly that he now intends to defy the Official Secrets Act risk 20 years jail to hand over the design patents to any foreign power that will turn them into reality. France and Germany will be his first ports of call, he announced. "I don't intend to stand here," warned the brilliant British engineer, "and let the Government sit on something which is going to introduce a modern industrial revolution to be compared with that of 150 years ago. The rest of the World is going to move ahead. The British Government should be aware of that".

Space experts forecast that Mr. Bond would only be the first in a massive "brain drain" of Britain's top aerospace designers, engineers and boffins. If Britain has backed down from the challenge of the "final frontier", other countries haven't, and that's where our best brains will go. As Alan Bond rightly said, "Britain is throwing away the chance to lead the world. Instead of selling to them, we will be buying from them".

A hundred years from now, experts and top industrialists agree, our planet will be divided into nations with industries, mines, and colonies in Space, and the Third World. For the want of £200 million, Thatcher has chosen to lead Britain into the Third World. "Because", she says, "it's all we can afford". But last year, when she couldn't afford £200 million for HOTOL, Thatcher gave away, for nothing, £1,358 million, over six times as much, in "foreign aid" handouts to the Third World. Most of this disappeared into the back pockets of corrupt Afro-Asian dictators.

But the outlook isn't all black. A week before the Tories backed out of Space, delegates at the National Front's Annual Conference in Central London overwhelmingly passed a motion committing the NF to supporting an independent manned Space Programme, based initially round the HOTOL concept. We, at least, have not forsaken the future, nor turned our backs upon the stars...

EDITORIAL No.15. January 1988

Is the Church turning its back on ordinary British folk?

ON CHRISTMAS EVE I went to Midnight Mass at a church in Bognor Regis. It was, I believe, what one would call a 'High Church', where special emphasis is paid to the ceremonial aspect of worship.

I went for the carols and in the belief that at this time of the year one should try to get away from the nonstop food, drink and merriment to reflect on the year past and the year to come. Cynics and those who ridicule religion, however would have had a field day at that service. The incense being sprayed around that got in people's throats, the army of finely robed officials carrying their poles topped with carved objects of all description would not have been out of place in Spittin' Image, while during the blessing of the crib, which entailed the vicar carrying aloft an plastic doll probably from Woolworths as he walked through the congregation chanting various prayers, it was difficult for the most solemn of those present to suppress a smile.

DISASTER

Such pomp and ceremony together with those elaborate prayers are a bit hard to swallow coming at the end of a year that has been a disaster for the Church. A year that saw the General Synod condone homosexuality. A year full of lurid stories of clergy involved with choirboys. And a year that saw the tragic suicide of Dr. Gareth Bennett, author of the Crockfords attack on the Archbishop of Canterbury.

It would be all too easy to dismiss the Church as out of touch and irrelevant. Those who are manipulating the Church today are out of touch and irrelevant and unless their hold is arrested they will lead the Church completely out of the lives of ordinary British folk once and for all. Yet a vast amount of British people do have faith. They do believe. They do seek guidance.

SPIRITUAL HELP

They want to have faith in the moral standards laid down so clearly by those scribes who penned the Ten Commandments in the Old Testament. They want to believe that if they conduct themselves in accordance with those values that at the end of their life they can rest assured they have made their contribution to society. And most important of all, in their hour of need, they want to be able to seek guidance and spiritual help by turning to the Church, man's path to faith and belief.

At this time when the very moral fabric of our society is under attack, the Church should be our chief defender. Instead it has joined in the attack. Britain's Churches could be full again. They could once again be the centres of life in Britain's, cities, towns and villages. To do so the Church must return to within the framework laid down by the pursuit of Basic Moral Standards while at the same time trying to bring their services in line with the thinking of the modern British family.

THE TED BUDDEN COLUMN

Good For A Laugh

THROUGHOUT the ages, old and decadent civilisations have been cursed with an effete, tenth-rate "intelligentsia" that takes delight in extolling the virtues of the "noble savage" to the detriment of its own race.

So, as befits the Chairman of Channel 4 TV, the Great Director, Richard Attenborough, who every day, in every way, more and more resembles a puffed-up little toad, is on to the Noble Savage kick in a really big way.

He has now followed up his triumph with "Ghandi" - in which the noble, saintly and civilised W.O.G. contrasted most favourably with the beastly, brutish and stupid British - with "Cry Freedom", the story (allegedly) of the life and death of the S. African black terrorist Steve Biko.

Since the picture could not be made in beastly fascist S. Africa whose freely elected Government was somewhat ill-disposed towards the project, it was instead made next door in Zimbabwe, the Marxist one-party state that is positively brimming with noble savages despite its Governments predilection for imprisoning people, especially white people, for years without trial. Needless to say, Attenborough and his motley crew was welcomed to this oasis of freedom in the same way, I suppose, that Kim Philby was welcomed in Moscow.

Naturally, the savages are portrayed in the film as, well, noble. The Whites, on the other hand are, well, need you ask?

Here, I Say!

THE RECENT raid by Ministry of Defence investigators on the Marconi subsidiary of GEC has aroused GEC Chairman, the great and good Lord Weinstock, to a veritable paroxysm of fury.

The raid was apparently concerned with alleged irregularities over the pricing of government defence contracts and Milord Weinstock is said to regard this as an unwarranted slur on the honour of GEC - the existence of which was not even suspected until now.

Milord Weinstock's rage is reported to have brought him a face to face confrontation with the Director of Defence Procurement Mr Peter Levene (a truly titanic clash of noses) after which Lord Weinstock is said to have complained that he had "been treated like Lester Piggott".

Now that is really going too far. Not all the Whites are horrid, however. There is one, a "liberal" journalist called Donald Woods, who is beside himself with admiration for the noble savage Biko and is portrayed as being quite heroic in his opposition to White despotism.

Alas, the truth is somewhat less heroic.

Woods worked for the English language press in S. Africa which is totally opposed to the concept of apartheid despite the fact that the great majority of Whites favour it. Having been tipped off that he was about to be arrested and thrown into the pokey, Woods panicked and fled the country in female disguise, as a nun. Since then he has settled in Britain as a refugee from S. African terror and made quite a nice living posing as a freedom fighter.

The story I have is that the S. African police had not the slightest intention of arresting Woods but merely wished to rid themselves of the pestilential wimp. Having themselves leaked the news of his impending arrest, they then gently chivvied him across the country until he was safely across the border, and all the while police stations rang with the coarse guffaws of beefy coppers as they regaled their colleagues with crude jokes about Wood's latest disguise.

The S. African government have been challenged to allow the showing of "Cry Freedom" uncensored. They have said that they will. And why not? Boers have a great liking for old jokes.

Allowing for the fact that within every jockey's breast there lurks the burning desire to become the world's shortest billionaire and that Piggott's casual attitude towards taxation is shared by most of the free-wheeling racing fraternity, I must say that his conviction was, in my opinion, well merited.

As a mere employee, I am subject to the constant attentions of tax collectors who could give lessons to vampires and I bear a simmering resentment towards well-heeled tax dodgers who don't pay their corner.

So bracketing Lord Weinstock with Lester Piggott is like kicking a man when he's down - really hitting below the belt.

Well I mean, hasn't Lester suffered enough already?

NATIONAL FRONT STOPS IRA MARCH

By Ian Anderson

ON 22ND NOVEMBER the IRA masquerading under the name of the Manchester's Martyr's Committee intended to hold a march through the streets of Mostyn, Manchester to commemorate some of their murderers.

The so-called "Manchester Martyrs", William Allen, Michael O'Brien and Michael Larkin were hung in 1867 for killing a policeman. The IRA use this event as a pretext to parade their disgusting views through the streets of Manchester each year.

For several years now the National Front has turned out to oppose this march along with a number of loyalist groups. This year the march fell just two weeks after the appalling bomb outrage in Enniskillen. Consequently the National Front decided to organise a national mobilisation to stop this march.

As soon as we ordered our mobilisation the police got in touch with us and told us they wanted us to call off our counter-demonstration. We replied that it was the intention of the National Front to physically stop this IRA march.

Almost immediately the police told local press and television that they were thinking of applying for a ban to prevent violent clashes in the city between the NF, other loyalist groups and the IRA.

Three days prior to the march James Anderton, Chief Constable of Greater Manchester announced that he was banning the IRA march because he could not "guarantee public order in the city in view of the threatened counter-demonstration by the National Front."

For the first time in 120 years the Mostyn Martyr's March was prevented by the joint action of the National Front and other loyalist groups.

with Clitheroe NF organised a 53-seater coach to take their members to Manchester on the day of the march. Police stopped the Front members from getting anywhere near the IRA supporters who had been hemmed in Longsight Market and surrounded by hundreds of police.

● Britain's Hop Industry: Trying to reverse 25 years of decline

FRONT MUST SUPPORT HOP REVIVAL

THE NATIONAL Front should give its full support to plans to revive the English hop industry after a quarter century of decline at the hands of Continental lager.

In 1963 English and West German production of hops was roughly equal at 13,000 tonnes a year. Since then, output in England has fallen to around 5,000 tonnes, while in Germany it has increased to some 35,000 tonnes; in the past five years alone the English hop acreage has halved.

In an attempt to reverse the decline, English Hops, under the chairmanship of Hugh Philbrick, has formed a new partnership with Hopunion Dower Wood Ltd., itself a joint venture by a firm of East Anglian barley merchants.

The new company has acquired what it described as the only large hop extraction plant in Britain from Pauls Hop Products, in Reigate, Surrey, which will shortly be moved to Paddock Wood in Kent.

BLACKS WANTED

A NEW recruitment campaign aimed at Blacks and Asians has been launched by the Civil Service.

The campaign coincides with the results of an ethnic monitoring survey which shows that Blacks and Asians are poorly represented at higher Civil Service grades.

QUIZ OF THE WEEK

SIXTEEN DIVISIONS of the Metropolitan Police are to stage a new £115,000 street crime prevention scheme.

Is police Commissioner, Peter Imbert, trying to tell us something by the areas he has pinpointed for the campaign?

Judge for yourself. Do you know what these areas have in common?

Brixton, Tottenham, Stoke Newington, Clapham, Lewisham, Tooting, West Ham, Peckham, Battersea, Hackney, Kilburn, Wembley, Southwark, Holloway, Hornsey and Streatham.

BIG WHITE CHIEF

PROMINENT BLACKS have reacted angrily to the appointment of a White man to the top race relations job.

Michael Day, 54, has become the third White man in succession to become the Chairman of the Government-sponsored Commission for Racial Equality.

Day immediately started to earn his £45,000 a year salary by demanding more money be poured into immigrant areas, warning that if it wasn't "I think we shall see, perhaps, more of the kind of disturbances which were a very real reminder to us in 1981 and more recently in 1985".

BELGIAN MINISTER SPELLS IT OUT

MR. JOSEPH Michel, the Belgian Minister of the Interior, has warned that his country faces problems unless immigration controls are tightened.

Writing in a Dutch-language magazine, he said, "We risk being like the Romans - invaded by barbarians. The barbarians are the Arabs, the Moroccans, the Turks and the Yugoslavs. You can't call them anything else but barbarians. They are people from very far away who have nothing in common with our civilisation".

The description fits Britain's immigrants even better!

CITY HOSPITALS ON THE BRINK

HOSPITALS IN Birmingham would not be able to cope with the increased numbers of patients that could be expected in winter.

That was the message of 200 consultants from the city as they lobbied the Government against health cuts. Dr. Kenneth Taylor, a consultant physician at Dudley Road Hospital said "We have reached the point where there is no more slack. The effects of an influenza epidemic could be nothing short of disastrous".

It is all very well the Government talking about the number of patients that have been treated, what they never mention is the number that have been left untreated!

REDS IN DISTRESS

Circulation crisis faces Red Music Press

by Bob Nash

FOLLOWING ON FROM the Extreme left's failure to boost the fortunes of the Labour Party in the June election through the medium of the Red Wedge music concerts, it now appears that the Left-wing Press, particularly their music papers, are facing a crisis of confidence and circulation.

It would appear that the asylum for the journalistically insane, the New Musical Express (N.M.E.), is suffering from a rapidly falling circulation. Figures for this year show that the N.M.E.'s weekly sales are down by some 16,000 copies. The paper's current circulation stands at 88,000, which is less than half the 1980 sales figures.

These figures were gleefully reported recently in Time Out the entertainments magazine, which like its breakaway rival City Limits, is becoming increasingly cynical in its contents with regard to the failure of 'the Left' to make any lasting impression on the political scene as borne out by their June election fiasco.

The rise and fall of 'the Left' in music journalism can certainly be dated from the mid 1970s. At this time a whole group of music papers notably Melody Maker, Sounds and the NME came under control of 'the Left'. In the case of the Melody Maker and Sounds the change ruined two good music papers.

Melody Maker, a paper that was once worth reading cover to cover; containing sections which covered Rock, Country and Western, and Folk music in depth, has now degenerated into an over-extended gossip column cum comic strip, featuring mostly faceless Red groups and so-called Reggae Poets.

Sounds too has undergone a similar disintegration. Once an out-and-out Heavy Rock paper it has fallen into mouthing the gutter ravings of 'the Left' competing with Melody Maker to see who can be the most decadent and multi-racialist.

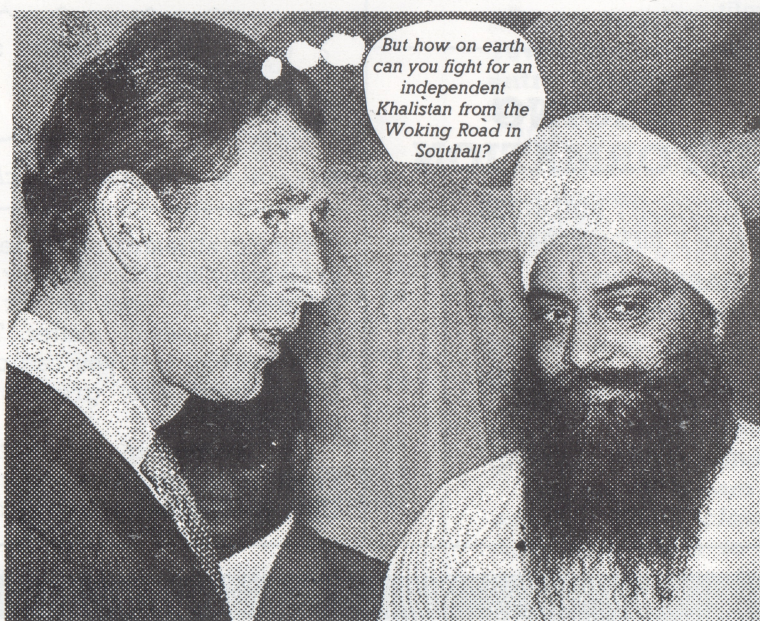

It's good news that 1988 sees the rapid decline of these three music papers and young people, in increasing numbers, rejecting the lunatic writings of these Red Rags.

The increasing failure which is leading to cynicism within the Red press is good news for both music lovers and Nationalists. The failure of their propaganda leaves a void which can be filled by Nationalist groups and artists whose music, a whole generation of young Whites are eager to hear.

We must seize this opportunity and establish British Nationalist sentiments as a reality in British popular music.

WHAT THEY REALLY THINK!

Time and time again leading British figures are forced into situations because at the time it is politically expedient. One example was a recent visit by Prince Charles to a Sikh Temple after internal trouble in that community. Its amusing to muse on what the Prince was thinking while he listened to their troubles.

Tories & NF accused of smearing Labour!

Council
Leader:
Labour's
Dick Knowles.

BIRMINGHAM'S Labour leader Dick Knowles has accused the National Front and Tory Councillors of trying to discredit him and the Labour Party in the media.

During a stormy council meeting he claimed the Conservatives "and their allies in the National Front" were running a campaign of destabilisation with their friends in the Press.

THE CHANNEL TUNNEL FARCE CONTINUES

GOVERNMENT CAPITULATION to commercial and political pressures over the Channel Tunnel will make it easier for drug barons and terrorists to infiltrate Britain claims two Civil Service unions.

Mr. James Feeney, of the Society of Civil and Public Servants believes "On-train controls would be a farce turning to tragedy when international drug smuggling organisations exploit the inevitable weakness in the system".

The National Front is totally opposed to the Channel Tunnel. As well as facilitating the arrival of undesirables into Britain, the tunnel will also devastate the Kent countryside, while for the first time ever, Britain will be susceptible to the ravages of the killer disease Rabies.

"DIRTY" WEEKEND ON THE RATES

CAMDEN COUNCIL are spending £250,000 on sending thirty homosexuals and lesbians on a weekend course in the country to make them 'more assertive'.

The Burning Question - Could it Happen Here?

BRIDE-BURNING is on the increase in Kashmir.

Nine brides have been burned to death this year in the Jammu region alone as a result of discontent over dowry settlements.

In one case a woman was set on fire by her husband when she was eight months pregnant. Both she and her child died. Another wife was burned to death after she gave birth to two girls.

The news has sent shivers through the spines of all multi-racialists in Britain. What do they say if the Hindu community here start barbecuing their womenfolk! How on earth do you tell the British public that Bride-Burning enriches their culture?

PAY RISE

LORD HANSON, chairman of Hanson PLC has quadrupled his pay this year to £1,263,000 pa.

If anyone is interested that is £24,288 a week.

THE MEDIA AND THE FRONT: IT'S A LOVE-HATE RELATIONSHIP

9.05 SMOOKER. More coverage of the UK final of the National Front's favourite game. Why is it? First you down the reds. Then you knock over the colours. Finally you sink the black and leave a white as the triumphant survivor!

10.45 NEWS AND WEATHER.

THE MEDIA hates the National Front. Yet despite that hate they love to mention us. It's all nasty digs, and they never ever bother to contact the NF to check their facts. But week after week journalists up and down the country invent National Front policy, thoughts, opinions and activities.

DELIBERATED

Julie Burchell in the Mail on Sunday believes the NF holds its AGM in a phone box. On the same day the News of the World deliberated on our members favourite sport, while the Sunday Telegraph at that time was commenting on NF recruitment.

From the Sunday Telegraph

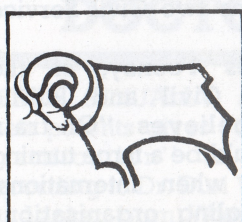

The most likely result of Race Awareness Training courses in schools would be to boost recruitment for the National Front. But of course that does the Race Relations Industry no harm, either.

That any publicity is good publicity is a fallacy. But, through their continual attacks on the NF the media have achieved the very opposite of their intention — to put the NF 'out of the political arena'.

UNDERLINES

The three little mentions given to the NF by those national newspapers on that Sunday in December underlines the fact. The National Front is an established part of the British political scene today.

MAXWELL'S MONOPOLY

By Ian Anderson

DESPITE THE FACT that Robert Maxwell failed in his attempt to buy Watford Football Club from Elton John, the attempted purchase exposed the appalling system whereby local football clubs can be bought and sold like properties on a Monopoly Board.

The Maxwell Family already own Oxford United where son Kevin is Chairman and daughter Ghislaine is on the board. They also own Derby County where Maxwell himself is chairman. This as well as having a 30% control in Reading Football Club through a number of nominees.

This attempt to build a football empire has even managed to wake up the incompetent bunglers who run the Football League. They, after much deliberation, realised that Maxwell would be in breach of Regulation 80 of their rules and they have successfully applied for a High Court Injunction which effectively stopped the sale of Watford.

However this is not the only group of clubs controlled by one family, another example is Liverpool and Everton which, despite being fierce rivals, are effectively controlled by the Moore family.

The National Front says that

● Maxwell: Building an Empire?

shares in professional football clubs should only be held by past and present players, staff and genuine fans. Over the last year we have already seen how little regard professional businessmen have for the traditions and loyalties of clubs when they tried to close down Fulham's ground and impose a merger with Q.P.R.

The failure of such forced mergers can be seen with the case of Charlton using Crystal Palace's ground. A mere 6,000 turned up to their Boxing Day game against Portsmouth, an attendance that would have been doubled if they had still been at the Valley.

It's time that the control of football clubs was handed over to those people who care for the game and taken away from those who are just in it to make a quick profit.

LESSONS TO LEARN FROM LINCOLN

By Martin Wingfield

WHEN THE bottom falls out of your world it is very hard to pull yourself together and pick up the pieces. When you fall out of the bottom, (the bottom of the 4th Division of the Football League in the case of Lincoln City FC last year) it's an equally difficult task to keep things going.

Accrington, Gateshead, Barrow, Southport and Workington all lost their football league status and disappeared into oblivion. Yet Lincoln City are proving they are not going the same way. They are putting up a most spirited effort to get back into the Football League at their first attempt by winning the GM Vauxhall Conference League.

● Lincoln City: Spirited Revival

Lincoln City won both their Christmas holiday games in front of crowds of 4,000 to take them to second in the league behind Barnet. With enthusiasm and commitment at the club bubbling over they look as though they can achieve that impossible dream.

All those involved with the club must have been devastated when the club lost its league status last May, but instead of sitting around moping they picked up the pieces and got back to work. The result is for all to see.
